

Settimo Cielo

di Sandro Magister

01 nov

A Theologian Writes To the Pope: There Is Chaos in the Church, and You Are a Cause

> Italiano

> English

> Español

> Français

> All the articles of Settimo Cielo in English

*

Thomas G. Weinandy is among the most eminent theologians and lives in Washington at the College of the Capuchins, the Franciscan order to which he belongs. He is a member of the international theological commission, the commission that Paul VI set up alongside the congregation for the doctrine of the faith so that it could avail itself of the cream of the crop among the world's theologians. He has been a member of this commission since 2014, having been appointed to it by Pope Francis.

Last May, while he was in Rome for a meeting of the commission, he got the germ of the idea to write an open letter to Francis, in order to confide to him about a disquiet that is not only his own but shared by many, over the growing chaos in the Church that he saw as having been caused to a large extent by none other than the pope.

He prayed for a long time, including at the tomb of Peter. He asked Jesus to help him decide whether or not to write the letter, and to give him a sign... And the sign came the next day, identical to the one he had asked for in prayer, as he explains here:

> "There was no longer any doubt that Jesus wanted me to write..."

So bolstered by Heaven, Fr. Weinandy wrote the letter. He sent it to Pope Francis in the middle of summer. And today, on the feast of All Saints, he is making it public, on the American religious information portal Crux and in Rome, in four languages, on Settimo Cielo.

Padre Weinandy, 71, has taught at numerous universities in the United States, at Oxford for twelve years, and in Rome at the Pontifical Gregorian University.

He was for nine years the executive director of the secretariat for doctrine at the episcopal conference of the United States.

*

Your Holiness,

I write this letter with love for the Church and sincere respect for your office. You are the Vicar of Christ on earth, the shepherd of his flock, the successor to St. Peter and so the rock upon which Christ will build his Church. All Catholics, clergy and laity alike, are to look to you with filial loyalty and obedience grounded in truth. The Church turns to you in a spirit of faith, with the hope that you will guide her in love.

Yet, Your Holiness, a chronic confusion seems to mark your pontificate. The light of faith, hope, and love is not absent, but too often it is obscured by the ambiguity of your words and actions. This fosters within the faithful a growing unease. It compromises their capacity for love, joy and peace. Allow me to offer a few brief examples.

First there is the disputed Chapter 8 of "Amoris Laetitia." I need not share my own concerns about its content. Others, not only theologians, but also cardinals and bishops, have already done that. The main source of concern is the manner of your teaching. In "Amoris Laetitia," your guidance at times seems intentionally ambiguous, thus inviting both a traditional interpretation of Catholic teaching on marriage and divorce as well as one that might imply a change in that teaching. As you wisely note, pastors should accompany and encourage persons in irregular marriages; but ambiguity persists about what that "accompaniment" actually means. To teach with such a seemingly intentional lack of clarity inevitably risks sinning against the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of truth. The Holy Spirit is given to the Church, and particularly to yourself, to dispel error, not to foster it. Moreover, only where there is truth can there be authentic love, for truth is the light that sets women and men free from the blindness of sin, a darkness that kills the life of the soul. Yet you seem to censor and even mock those who interpret Chapter 8 of "Amoris Laetitia" in accord with Church tradition as Pharisaic stone-throwers who embody a merciless rigorism. This kind of calumny is alien to the nature of the Petrine ministry. Some of your advisors regrettably seem to engage in similar actions. Such behavior gives the impression that your views cannot survive theological scrutiny, and so must be sustained by "ad hominem" arguments.

Second, too often your manner seems to demean the importance of Church doctrine. Again and again you portray doctrine as dead and bookish, and far from the pastoral concerns of everyday life. Your critics have been accused, in your own words, of making doctrine an ideology. But it is precisely Christian doctrine – including the fine distinctions made with regard to central beliefs like the Trinitarian nature of God; the nature and purpose of the Church; the Incarnation; the Redemption; and the sacraments – that frees people from worldly ideologies and assures that they are actually preaching and teaching the authentic, life-giving Gospel. Those who devalue the doctrines of the Church separate themselves from Jesus, the author of truth. What they then possess, and can only possess, is an ideology – one that conforms to the world of sin and death.

Third, faithful Catholics can only be disconcerted by your choice of some bishops, men who seem not merely open to those who hold views counter to Christian belief but who support and even defend them. What scandalizes believers, and even some fellow bishops, is not only your having appointed such men to be shepherds of the Church, but that you also seem silent in the face of their teaching and pastoral practice. This weakens the zeal of the many women and men who have championed authentic Catholic teaching over long periods of time, often at the risk of their own reputations and well-being. As a result, many of the faithful, who embody the "sensus fidelium," are losing confidence in their supreme shepherd.

Fourth, the Church is one body, the Mystical Body of Christ, and you are commissioned by the Lord himself to promote and strengthen her unity. But your actions and words too often seem intent on doing the opposite. Encouraging a form of "synodality" that allows and promotes various doctrinal and moral options within the Church can only lead to more theological and pastoral confusion. Such synodality is unwise and, in practice, works against collegial unity among bishops.

Holy Father, this brings me to my final concern. You have often spoken about the need for transparency within the Church. You have frequently encouraged, particularly during the two past synods, all persons, especially bishops, to speak their mind and not be fearful of what the pope may think. But have you noticed that the majority of bishops throughout the world are remarkably silent? Why is this? Bishops are quick learners, and what many have learned from your pontificate is not that you are open to criticism, but that you resent it. Many bishops are silent because they desire to be loyal to you, and so they do not express – at least publicly; privately is another matter – the concerns that your pontificate raises. Many fear that if they speak their mind, they will be marginalized or worse.

I have often asked myself: "Why has Jesus let all of this happen?" The only answer that comes to mind is that Jesus wants to manifest just how weak is the faith of many within the Church, even among too many of her bishops. Ironically, your pontificate has given those who hold harmful theological and pastoral views the license and confidence to come into the light and expose their previously hidden darkness. In recognizing this darkness, the Church will humbly need to darken herself, and so continue to grow in holiness.

Holy Father, I pray for you constantly and will continue to do so. May the Holy Spirit lead you to the light of truth and the life of love so that you can dispel the darkness that now hides the beauty of Jesus' Church.

Sincerely in Christ,

Thomas G. Weinandy, O.F.M., Cap.

July 31, 2017

Feast of St. Ignatius of Loyola

POSTSCRIPT – Shortly after the publication of his letter and after a conversation with the secretary general of the episcopal conference of the United States, Fr. Weinandy handed in his resignation as an advisor to the doctrinal commission of the conference. And its president, Cardinal Daniel N. DiNardo, commented on his "departure" with this note:

> U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops President on Dialogue within the Church

Condividi:

01 novembre 2017

English

0

NESSUN COMMENTO

I commenti sono disabilitati.

CHI SONO

Versione italiana

English version

Versión española

CERCA NEL BLOG

Cerca

Dal 2002 al 2016 quindici anni di notizie, analisi, documenti sulla Chiesa cattolica. In italiano, inglese, francese e spagnolo

From 2002 to 2016 fifteen years of news, analysis, documents on the Catholic Church. In Italian, English, French, and Spanish

De 2002 à 2016 quinze ans d'informations, d'analyses, de documents concernant l'Église catholique. En italien, en anglais, en français et en espagnol

De 2002 a 2016 quince años de noticias, análisis y documentos sobre la Iglesia católica. En italiano, inglés, francés y español

NEWSLETTER

Italiano English Español Français

Vuoi ricevere l'avviso di ogni nuovo articolo?

ISCRIVITI

Per cambiare il tuo indirizzo o altri dati:

MODIFICA

Per annullare la tua iscrizione:

CANCELLA

ARTICOLI RECENTI

Il sinodo della Chiesa tedesca sotto la lente dell'analista. Una rivoluzione che si autodistrugge

The Synod of the German Church Under the Analyst's Lens. A Revolution That Self-destructs

El sínodo de la Iglesia alemana, bajo la lupa de un analista. Una revolución que se autodestruye

Papa non rigorista ma della vera misericordia. Ecco come Ratzinger racconta oggi Giovanni Paolo II

Not a Rigidist Pope, But One of True Mercy. Here's How Ratzinger Describes John Paul II Today

Papa no rigorista, sino de verdadera misericordia. Tal como Ratzinger habla hoy de Juan Pablo II

Passo dopo passo verso i preti sposati. Un aggiornamento

Step By Step Toward Married Priests. An Update

Paso a paso hacia los sacerdotes casados. Una actualización

Francesco imprenditore buono "che non vuole licenziare nessuno". Ma i fatti dicono l'opposto

novembre: 2017

L	M	M	G	V	S	D
	7	8	2	3	4	5
13	15	16	17	18	19	20
	21	22	24	25	26	27
		29	30

LINK

- Santa Sede
- Sala stampa
- Vatican News
- L'Osservatore Romano
- La Civiltà Cattolica
- Il Sismografo
- Diplomazia pontificia
- Vatican Insider
- Avvenire
- La Nuova Bussola Quotidiana
- CNA
- ACI Stampa
- ACI Africa
- Crux
- Asia News
- UCA News
- Bitter Winter
- Zen
- Religiondigital.com
- Corrispondenza Romana
- Rosporpora
- Rod Dreher
- Opzione Benedetto
- LifeSite News
- Edward Peters
- messainatino.it
- Lo Straniero
- L'Isola di Patmos
- InfoVaticana
- Il Regno
- A. Grillo
- A.M. Valli
- finesettimana.org
- Catholic World Report
- First Things
- The Catholic Thing
- MondayVatican
- NCR - Pentin
- Ross Douthat
- Jason Horowitz
- Francis X. Rocca
- Religion News Service
- OLIR
- Pew Research

ARCHIVI

Seleziona mese